IMPROVEMENT OF AMBIENCE

Any Government Office in India evokes the following memories: Place littered with files and papers, unclean atmosphere, offensive and unhelpful personnel and demotivated staff. The file and “red tape” have come to symbolize this anachronism in governance. However the ambience in the Directorate of Horticulture was improved in the year 2010 with the provision of work stations to all employees. Lot more improvement has been brought about as now, we are ensuring that the office is cleaned atleast five times a day through an outsourced housekeeping agency. The entire ambience has become attractive as in the Private sector. We have also provided a series of staff welfare activities like provision of individual lockers so that their table is not cluttered with their personal belongings. R.O. water has been provided, facilities inside toilets have been improved tremendously. Personal computers in a LAN have been provided to each and every officer and staff. More work stations, air-conditioning etc., have also been provided.

IMPACT

The above measure has had a very positive impact on the morale of the staff and they deem it a pleasure to work in such atmosphere.
